Smithfield.

SMITHFIELD, March 25.—Thieves visited Joseph Thomas' smoke house Thursday night and got away with about half of his meat. That they had intended taking it all was evidenced by their having taken all of it down off the hooks on which it hung, but something frightened them and they made a hasty get away with only part of it. They were in a wagon which Mr. Thomas trailed for some distance in the direction of Fairchance.

Charles Hinkle and wife of Uniontown were here Friday attending the funeral of Anna Reed.

Mrs. Aaron Bosley of Nicholson township, was a borough shopper on Friday.

Two little boys, scantily and thinly clad, came down off the mountain through the cold chilly rain that prevailed Thursday and made a house to house canvass selling sausages and buns. The paragon that would send children out under such conditions are proper subjects for the Home Society to look after.

G. W. Burner of Nicholson township, was marketing sample molasses in the borough Saturday, the product of his own sugar bush.

Mrs. William Martin of Pittsburg, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Mahan and other relatives here.

Mrs. Joseph Mitchell of Fairchance, called on her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ewing on Sunday.

Mrs. M. E. Colborn of Uniontown, was the guest of relatives here over Saturday night and Sunday.

The A. M. U. Telegraph Company have put in a line from the Morgan road to the works of the Baxters Ridge Coke Company. The company had a line on about the same location to the Wharton works and when that company worked out some person or persons stole the copper wire off the poles. They used an iron wire on the line to the Baxters Ridge Company, so if the junk thieves want that the loss will not be so great.

Mrs. William Barton gave an all day quilting bee to a number of invited guests at the Smithfield school Saturday. Those present were: Mrs. I. A. King, Misses Florence and Ruth King, Miss Leonora Barnhart, Mrs. Aaron Ross, Mrs. Samuel Hixler, Mrs. M. E. Colborn, Mrs. Mary C. Freeman, Mrs. James Gray, Mrs. T. L. King, Mrs. J. W. Newcomer, Mrs. James McFarland, Mrs. Henry G. Johnson, Mrs. Samuel Colborn, Mrs. Springer Todd, Miss Elizabeth Gray, Masters Llewellyn Johnson and Donald Hixler of Uniontown, Mrs. A. J. Hixler, Mrs. Hixler, Miss Nellie Henderson of Fairchance, Mrs. M. R. Smiley, Mrs. W. A. Arison, Mrs. D. H. Har, Smithfield, Mrs. Craft of Brownsville. A delightful six course dinner was served in the ladies dining room of the hotel, which was tastefully decorated, the color scheme being pink. Each guest's place at the table was embellished with a bouquet of carnations.

Dunbar.

DUNBAR, March 25.—Mrs. Adam Workman was here last week in now slowly improving.

Mrs. Allan Duncan who has been here visiting friends and relatives, left for her home at Weirton, W. Va.

Miss Lillian Scott who has been sick for the past few weeks and was operated on at the Cottage State hospital for appendicitis, resumed her place as teacher in the public schools on Wednesday.

Milton D. Williams was in Pittsburgh on Saturday and purchased a new automobile and drove up that evening. It is an Everet No. 30 and the latest make. Milton is now more than pleased with it on account of the way it came over the muddy roads.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will hold a bazaar in the Sunday school room of the church on the evening of April 12.

Mrs. Helen Carroll of the West Side, Conneltsville, was here on Sunday visiting friends.

ITCHING ERUPTIONS

PIMPLES AND BLOTCHES THAT DISFIGURE AND DISTRESS.

Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

Even if it were not for the terrible itching and burning that make skin troubles so hard to bear, the disfigurement alone would make it desirable to effect a speedy cure.

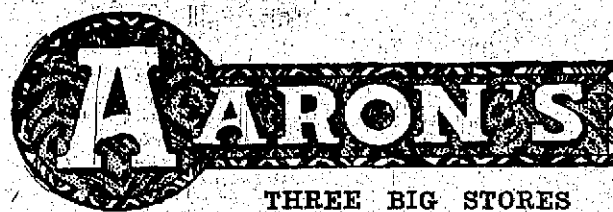

There is now a way of banishing these afflictions, whether eczema, tetter, barber's itch, ringworm or other skin disease.

Our new skin remedy, Saxon Salve, attacks the itching almost as soon as applied. At the same time it sinks gradually into the skin, carrying with it the soothing and healing ingredients which give the remarkable value, and thus reaches the seat of the disease. The eruptions soon disappear and the skin becomes soft and smooth once more. Saxon salve is equally good for children and grown persons, and great improvement is soon seen. Saxon Salve is guaranteed to satisfy you—money back if it does not. Graham & Co., druggists, Conneltsville, Pa.

TUESDAY EVENING, MAR. 26, 1912.

Modern Town Building.

Connellsville has made some progress in the world, but she has rarely been the creature of circumstance; her advancement has been due to the public spirit of her citizens in pushing her forward.

These houses have been frequent and often strenuous, but they have lacked sustained effort. The community, like the churches, needs an occasional revival meeting to keep the spirit alive. Our Chamber of Commerce is having such a revival now. It has secured the aid of commercial evangelists of experience to help conduct the campaign. It aims at a membership of 500 and a treasury fortified against default. It proposes to employ an experienced secretary at a liberal salary to be the active representative of the city in the great work of its upbuilding and advancement.

There will be those who will say that this is a waste of money. Connellsville has natural advantages which will attract manufacturing industries without the aid of high-priced agents; that as we have grown so shall we continue to grow, like the small boy, in spite of ourselves. Not necessarily. Few towns now grow in spite of themselves. There are too many other towns being boosted by modern methods. The competition for the location of industries has grown up. To secure these industries we must not only offer superior inducements, but we must have an agent at hand ready to seek out the promoters and personally present the attractions we have to offer.

Back of him must be a Chamber of Commerce composed of the representative citizens of Connellsville ever ready to meet any reasonable and proper demands upon their time and resources.

While Morgantown is considering the installation of the meter system in its municipal water plant it has discovered that its pumping facilities are not sufficient and that it will be necessary to install another pump and let the water rates remain as they are. One of the chief difficulties about public ownership of public utilities is the difficulty of properly financing them.

Stubbs and Flint have disclosed their political rewards. "Doll" Johns hasn't declared himself yet.

Butler proposes to build a $25,000 market house on a vacant lot in the next month and all the hotels will close. The traveling public will have to feed at the market house and sleep in the streets.

Indiana always was a close State.

The Washington Observer says coal is coming back as a domestic fuel because of the high price of natural gas. Perhaps, but if the bituminous coal strike is pulled off, April 1st, there won't be much choice between coal and natural gas where the water is available.

President Taft carried Waynesburg yesterday with the aid of the women.

The Bell telephone management is putting out some strong bids for Government ownership of the telephone service. Why does the Bell company want to sell out?

Our high waters have passed, but those of the Ohio and Mississippi have just arrived.

The annual borough audit of the embryonic city of Connellsville is now in progress. When it is completed it will perhaps be better understood why the Town Council cannot grant all the petitions presented for street paving.

Greensburg gets the electric show, also some better show weather than Connellsville had.

It has been discovered that the topography of the Connellsville baseball ground has been all wrong. Now we know why Connellsville failed to win the pennant.

T. J. got away with six meetings last night in New York City. He is no longer a receptive candidate.

Manufacturing concerns which are heavy consumers of coal are very busy just now accumulating a surplus. They are not optimistic about the coal strike.

The vacancy in the South Connellsville Board of Health has been filled by the Burgess. If we remember correctly, the Burgess has nothing to do with filling vacancies in the Board of Health. That is the duty of the President of the Town Council, and his appointments are subject to the approval of the Town Council.

The car supply of the country is barely holding its own. This sounds satisfactory, but in practice it is not, for the reason that some sections are short of cars and others have a surplus.

The basketball financial statement was not deemed proper for publication. It is doubtless of more interest to the stockholders than it is to the public.

Licensed to Wed.

Pauline Bendix of Mt. Pleasant, and Harry Maier of Brookings were granted a marriage license in Pittsburgh yesterday.

LIVED 50 YEARS

Old Injury Causes Death of John Siller on His Birthday.

John Siller, a former well known Connellsville resident, died yesterday in a Pittsburgh hospital on his 50th birthday. Sixteen years ago Mr. Siller fell from an engine tank into a pit and suffered injuries from which he never fully recovered. About three days ago he again fell and suffered injuries which hastened his death. At the time he met with the first accident he was employed in the U. & O. shops here.

Decomposed was born and reared in Connellsville and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Siller. When a young man he learned the machinist trade in the U. & O. shops and for 29 years was in the employ of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company. He married Miss Lucy Mullen and for some time past the family has resided at North Braddock, Pa.

His widow and the following children, Charles, Carrie, Edna, Thomas, Grace and John Siller, all at home, two brothers, Jacob Siller of Altoona, and Frank, at home, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Cunningham and Miss Kate Siller at home, survive. The body will be taken charge of by Funeral Director J. L. Sims. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

They Choose Cumberland.

Mrs. Nora Jewell Burkholder and Frederick Peck, both of Uniontown; Joshua Cole of Mt. Braddock and Miss Olive Martin of Dunbar were granted licenses to wed in Cumberland yesterday.

OUTLINE HOW TO PUT TOWN ON MAP

edge, first, and after that a lack of appreciation. First, they then appreciate the value of the elements which enter into town development; they are accepted where study has been given. Have community unity, a common purpose and desire to develop along the right lines, then what is the best method to express it?

"There is but one proper agency, a Chamber of Commerce, a Board of Trade, Commercial Club—name it what you will. Connelville is pleased to call her organization a Chamber of Commerce. Men may differ in religion, in politics and in their regard for their neighbors, but this is a subject that all can stand on a common platform. Dissolve selfish interest; create public interest in the common good. When Connelville was Connelville, 70 years ago, the western shore of Lake Michigan was but a barren sand dune. Today Chicago stands there, a city of two million inhabitants. Chicago is not an accident. It is a main-made city. Michigan City, Milwaukee, a dozen other towns are better situated on Lake Michigan to be a metropolis. Every train, east or west, has to make a detour of 70 miles up the lake shore to reach Chicago. They pass directly through Michigan City, Men of vision, broad perspective and faith built Chicago. They didn't ask 'What do I get out of it?'

"If we think of a city as the composite of its citizens; the intellect represented through its schools and educational institutions; its heart through hospitals and charitable organizations; its strong right arm through its factories and the mills. Communities thrive best and advance in the proper direction when all three of these factors are normally developed. The most serious danger is in overdeveloping the industrial side. That is not difficult to understand. We are very material these days. We are after the dollars and cents and who can blame us? Connelville is in a peculiar situation to tempt devoting all its time and energies to getting factories. With its advantages this is not hard to understand. What Connelville wants to do is let the world know of Connelville, and let it be the center of the coke region. This should be done by the Chamber of Commerce. Connelville is a name familiar to the industrial world, even if it is not known with coke. A little judicious advertising should accomplish what many cities have attempted and failed after spending thousands of dollars.

"First get factories and begin to produce wealth. With that factory must come people. When you get the people, they must be housed, which opens an opportunity for the investment of local capital.

"But we must not lose sight of the other side of the community body. It is little short of criminal to invite a manufacturer to your city, to bring his employees here, unless you intend to provide for them. You must aid the manufacturer to get the best possible employees and the best possible employees are possible only when they have the best chances for living. You must give the youth a good education, give him suitable play space; give the older people parks. Now is the time to do it when it can be done cheaply. Do not wait until land values have risen to make it impossible.

"We must bring home the question of duty. There is national patriotism and loyalty to the home, but neither can be properly fostered unless you are loyal to your own city. We cannot hope to be national patriots if we fail to appreciate that which is immediately around us.

"What Connelville wants is a big, central organization. It is going to have it. I believe the spirit is in the air. I want to call your attention to the sentiment which hangs over your head—I believe in Connelville. I want to ask every man here if he believes in Connelville as he believes in his home? Who knows his duty to his home and then to his home town? I appeal to men here to take this sentiment and adopt it. I ask them further to throw aside self-interest; tear down the personal self and meet in its stead a more beautiful sentiment of civic pride and public spirit. I am going to ask you to join me in a dry toast to Connelville."

Mr. Finch concluded as the guests drank the toast and loudly applauded his address.

President Markell then introduced Attorney J. C. Hylbes as speaking on the subject of "Connelville's Duty to Its Chamber of Commerce." He said, in part:

"Notwithstanding the fact that all coke works that have been exhausted during the past 10 years have been in the midst of Connelville, its population has shown a healthy, normal increase. It does not make any difference. Connelville will still stand with all the coal worked out and a substantial center of business and, sooner or later, the center of population in Fayette county. To my mind the progress and material prosperity of Connelville is a substantial and assured fact. Its growth can be no celebrated and controlled, but Connelville will grow and continue to grow.

"I do not know whether this is appropos to the occasion, and I want anyone who asks to know that when I am called upon to make an address I say what I think, think what I believe and believe what I please. There are two or three things Connelville needs. I think this body, which you intend to rejuvenate and extend, is the center around which these things cluster and are being worked out. Notwithstanding the fact that the population has increased since 1890 about 100 per cent, Connelville is governed the same way it has been for the past 40 or 50 years. I pass no criticism on anybody. I was disappointed that the Supreme Court failed to elect this borough had a right to elect city officers last fall. I am sure that as a matter of public interest and convenience that it was not a good thing. I am not sure we yet realize what we should.

"What we need in Connelville is for the best men in Connelville to have the public offices. It is not a question of what a man wants; not a question of him seeking it. There is scarcely ever a man who wants to go through a municipal campaign to get an office. What we need to do is carry the offices on golden platters, offer them and make the men take them.

"Let me tell you now, there is but one way to accomplish this and that is to do it by drawing the wave of party regularity in the billows of civic pride and civic rectitude.

"I believe that from an organization contemplated here, around the center of the material development of the community can be clustered civic pride and progress which make for good and accomplishes these things.

"It seems to me the best way Connelville can grow is by making it the best place men and women can live. I believe that soon a manufacturer will not base his decision entirely on the price of land, railroad rates, and material things; but whether it is the place his men can live comfortably for their children, where the highest moral sentiment prevails.

"Temporal and material progress is all right, but there are enough people in Connelville right now to make it a better place to live. The public health could be cleaner, the public health better, taxes lower, the police system better, the schools enlarged and extended, playgrounds erected and other things. If no other mill comes; if no other railroad is ever built, the people of Connelville, without more money than they spend now can fully and more comfortably enjoy life. It is the duty of the community to provide and afford every known facility by which man has the opportunity to live right.

"Nothing can be accomplished except by public sentiment. Public sentiment will never accomplish anything unless it organizes itself. Every community should have some kind of central organization where men of all creeds and politics can unite. This movement is certainly started in the right direction. While it may not make an ideal, it will make a better Connelville."

Loud applause greeted the speech. Mr. Hylbes was followed by C. C. Kirkpatrick of Chicago, one of the Town Development experts called in for consultation and chief of the staff. Mr. Kirkpatrick outlined the plan by which the Chamber of Commerce is to be reorganized, and called for volunteers. He said:

"The campaign will be for three days—Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Those who volunteer tonight will be divided into teams. Each team will have a captain. The teams and captains will meet daily in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, in the First National Bank building, at 9:30 o'clock sharp. They will find ready for them a series of cards of business people who ought to be members of the Chamber of Commerce. All the cards will be within the same district to make the work as easy as possible for the teams. The teams will start out each morning at 10 o'clock to see the prospects.

"Every section of the city has been corded, and before the campaign is over every one will have been given an opportunity to become a part of the movement for a Greater Connelville through a Greater Chamber of Commerce. The teams will see as many of the people listed on their cards as possible up to 12 o'clock. They will then return to the Y. M. C. A. auditorium for lunch and to report their success during the morning.

"As the campaign will be for three days, and only two hours a day, every man who volunteers is asked to give up only six hours of his time for his town. And surely good old Connelville is worth that much and more of any man's time."

A number offered their services two hours a day for three days, and will meet today to outline plans for the campaign. "Teamwork counts," admonished Mr. Kirkpatrick, who declared the men would work in teams to awaken public interest and civic pride.

Great difficulty is being experienced at the mines this winter in getting out the surplus of water in the workings. The pumps are inadequate to relieve the situation. The trouble is due to the recent heavy rains having raised the springing and mountain streams which find their way into the mines. This condition of affairs is especially bad just at this time when there is so great a demand for coal.

Trenton, Mo.—"About two years ago I had female trouble and inflammation so bad that I was literally helpless and had to be tended like a baby. Better Grades of Expensive Wall Paper

(Sixth Floor.)

A drawing room demands more than ordinary taste and skill to produce just the atmosphere which should pervade that room. More formal and elegant than any other room in the house unless it be a reception room, it must be absolutely perfect in every appointment, else it is an utter failure. No decoration for a drawing room could be more beautiful than one of brocade silk, finished with narrow bands and a draped border, all exquisitely embroidered or painted with a floral design. Such an expensive French creation could be commanded by few, so we have an Exquisite Copy of It within reach of every one. Ask the wall paper man.

These Are Reception Days Among the New Spring Millinery

What the Spring styles are—what period they follow—what colors are a la mode—all these first questions that a woman asks when Spring makes its advent, we shall leave the hats themselves to make reply to. The hundreds of women who came to "the opening" now know, and still more will know today.

But we may say this: In general the hats have not so much trimming; what is required of them above all is to have the line—that famous and esthetic line that blends with the grace of the silhouette, and enhances the profile and the arrangement of the hair. But you may have trimming and color to your heart's content. Come, we're thoroughly ready!
